Confirmation by Hishop Potter. he rite of confirmation was administered on Sunday the Free Episcopal Church of the Holy Martyra in Tuttle, of St. Luke's, and the Rev. Jan. Millet, pasted of the church. The building, which is one of 'the small-set and most unpretending edifices in the city dedicated to divine worship, was fully crowded. After prayer and diaging the Bishop preached an interesting aermon, laking his text from the second chapter of the Acts of the Apostlee:—"And they were all filled with the Holy Bhost and began to speak with other torsques." At the conclusion the persons to be confirmed, seventeen in ammber, the greater part of whegin were adults, assembled round the chancel, where the ceremony of the speedtion of hands was gone through with. The Bishop then gave the Apostolic benediction and the consequation dispersed.

Bleecker Street Universalist Church ov. Day K. Lee on Sunday delivered a discourse eecker street Universalist church on the future of our national career of progress and cultivation, and brought in the legend of the famous "seven sleepers" in dilustration of the idea that may be entertained of the state of our country after the next two hundred years, and of the progress in science and arts, and the improvements in our churches and schools, and all the institutions of modern civilization in the year of two bleensand and sixty-six, judging from the change dwring the past two hundred years. The speaker gave a wivid picture of the probable greatness of our country, the increase of its population and the advancement in religion, science and art at the time referred to. The text for this discourse was chosen from the twenty-second chapter of Genesis, the 17th and 18th verses, and the remarks of the preacher, thus giving a view of our future and probable greatness, were listened to with the greatest attention. A full congregation was present.

Redeemer, in Brooklyn. o years ago a portion of the congre pal dectrine to a select congregation in a small church at the corner of Fourth avenue and Pacific street, Brook-lya, endeavored te dragoon him into the services of the radical party in politica. As the gentleman did not feel that the policy indicated was one laid down in the line of enclesiastical duties he demurred, and a rupture took place. Since that time a large, handome new church las been built, and was on Sunday formally opened for divine service by the Right Rev. C. T. Quintard, Bishop of Tennessee. Among those present participating in the corumonics were the Rev. Richard Hiues, of St. Mary's cashedral, Memphis, Tonn.; the Rev. John Henry Hophina, Jr., of the Church Journal, and the Rev. Ferrir Tripp, assistant rector of the parish. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity by a highly fashion-habe auditory, many ladies and gentlemen standing in the aisles. The music consisted of a double chorus shelir—the decant side being composed of a quartette, sided by twelve boys' voices—the cantori side being made up of some thirty young ladies and grils. The chancels open on each side of the altar, and are splendidly constructed. The organ is a magnificent one of twenty-six stope, built in Massachusetts. The altar, as well as the fonts, are of the finest canstone, elaborately carred with various devices and quotations from Scripture. The church was profusely decorated with flowers of the season. The edifice, externally and internally, is assisted after the old English style of architecture, and seems an imposing and handsome appearance. Owing the ritual of the creed no consecration could take face in consequence of a debt being upon it; therefore listop Quintard simply opened the church in form, and wave a discourse upon "Tree Catholic Christianity, as extending dealerness and much pleased with the exercises of the day.
